

OWENS REFINING COMPANY PROPERTY SOLD FOR $150,000

Trades Day Parade To Feature First Monday In Cameron

KENT-MIDDLETON CO. TAKES OVER PROPERTY

JOHN S. OWENS WHO DEVELOPED FIELD SELLS ALL INTERESTS IN VENTURE.

At a figure said to approximate $150,000 but not definitely stated in the transaction papers, the refinery and production interests of the Owens Refining Company in the Minerva field have been sold to the Kent-Middleton Refining Company of Corsicana.

The Kent-Middleton interests took charge of the Owens property on September 1. While the sale of the property has been communicated to a few personal friends of Mr. Owens the public did not become cognizant of the deal until Tuesday when Mr. C. A. Middleton of Corsicana came to Cameron to take over the property.

It is announced that the office will be maintained in Cameron temporarily but will be discontinued in a short time. It will be the policy of the company to maintain an organization here to dispose of the products of the refinery and with this announcement it is said that some $25,000 will be spent to increase the capacity of the plant and of this amount $5000 is to be spent at once.

The capacity of the plant will be increased about 50 per cent. The production of the field is said to be 1060 barrels per day. The property taken over in the deal includes the refinery at Minerva, all rolling stock, leases and production and all pipe lines. The property involved in the transaction according to Mr. Middleton, represents about $150,000.

R. J. Long, who recently became agent here for the Owens Refining Company will continue to distribute the products. Mr. Long has the well known Owens Station. J. H. Edwards who has been in charge of the office will remain for a while with the company. Geo. P. Mann of Corsicana will come to Minerva to be superintendent of the refinery. J. F. Gambill who has been field superintendent will remain with the Kent-Middleton Company.

G. C. Kent is one of the largest producers in North Texas and is several times a millionaire, having made a fabulous fortune in the oil discoveries of Corsicana and other oil fields in the northern part of the state. Mr. Kent will visit Cameron in a short time to look over the property.

Mr. Kent is not an experienced refiner of crude but is a large producer. The indications are that he will sometime in the future start a drilling campaign in the Milam County field.

John S. Owens established the refinery at Minerva in 1922. The Commercial Club gave the site on which the refinery is located. He has been responsible for the development of the field. When he came to Cameron from Ardmore, Oklahoma, only two producing wells were on the pump in the field.

Mr. Owens will be tendered a farewell dinner by John E. Lee and Rockdale producers in the field Monday night, Sept. 7. Invitations are out announcing the event.

Mr. Owens has not announced his plans but will remain in Cameron for a short time. His many friends here regret his passing from the oil industry here and trust the city may profit in the future by his residence here.

E. Neely of Rockdale who represents the State Highway Commission in Milam county. They announced that they have perfected plans to improve the Cameron-Minerva road by building a new bridge on the highway near the Geo. Manley home and by cutting out the dangerous curve a short distance east of Minerva. Mr. Barnes also announced the letting of a contract to the Old River Construction Company for the flooring of the Port Sullivan bridge over the Brazos River.

BAPTIST CALL FOR ASSISTANT PASTOR

SALARY OF $1800 VOTED TO ASSISTANT FOR CHURCH AT CAMERON.

Wednesday night in conference the Baptist church called an assistant pastor at a salary of $1800 per year. Rev. Binford was given the call. He was in Cameron on last Sunday, having been asked to attend the services. The church knew nothing of the intention to call him to the work until Wednesday night. The matter was laid before the board of deacons Tuesday night and the call was extended in conference Wednesday night.

The matter evoked considerable discussion, it was said, with some opposing the call of an assistant in view of the conditions of drought stricken country. Others favored postponing the call until such time as the membership of the church could vote on the question at large. The motion to call prevailed by a large majority. While a number who expressed doubt as to the wisdom of the call did not vote either way, two votes were cast against the call.

A motion to employ a director for the orchestra was postponed. It was proposed to pay the director $420 per year, increasing the liability of the church $2220 per year. However the item for the assistant pastor is included in the budget.

Three Dogs are Sold for $275 by Bert Ray.

Bert Ray of Buckholts announces the sale of three Walker dogs to Penn Wolf for $275. The dogs sold are: Ray Branham and Mary Hayden who is a litter mate to John Branham; and Fly. Two are finished dogs and one a coming year old. Fly is 4 years old and Mary Hayden is 7 years old. Ray Branham is said to be a year old.

Mr. Ray in discussing the sale of these dogs from his kennels says he considers them the best dogs he has ever sold. All were bred and trained by him. Mr. Ray has eight dogs left, six of which are puppies from Mary Hayden out of a Cork. Mr. Ray says they are not for sale.

Mr. Ray will likely be a judge in the annual meet in San Antonio this year which is in December. He will not enter any of his dogs in the trials.

Last Friday night he caught a large timber wolf on the Crennon ranch near Cameron. The dogs killed the wolf before he could reach the fight.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Greyn and their two daughters, Elizabeth and Ernestine attended the wedding of Miss Louise Green last week.

New Bridge Across Little River To Open In 30 Days

The new bridge across Little River near Cameron is to be opened for traffic in about 30 days. This bridge takes the place of the old McCown bridge built in the early eighties. The new bridge will cost about $100,000 while the old bridge built nearly 40 years ago cost $17,000. One man was killed in the construction of the old bridge but no loss of life has been sustained in the erection of the new bridge. The bridge and highway across the bottom will permit traffic under ordinary overflow conditions and will be of great aid to travel through the county.

Former Milam Couple Observe Anniversary

An interesting group picture was given prominent space in the Dallas News a few days ago. It was made on the porch of the Nichols home with all the guests who had gathered to celebrate the fifty sixth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Nichols. It included the pictures of Mr. and Mrs. Samp Davis. Both the Nichols and Davis families formerly lived near Buckholts but now have homes at Ballinger.

W. T. Nichols and his good wife came more than forty years ago from Alabama to Milam county. By thrift they amassed considerable fortune here but later went West and bought cheaper land and now surrounded by their children and relatives they are living on "easy street".

The Herald extends felicitations to Mr. and Mrs. Nichols on this happy anniversary and wishes many further years to them of prosperity and happiness.

Henderson, who will attend the celebration to be held Tuesday, September 1. Rev. McCune is the father of the Farmers Alliance and also founder of the Populist party. During the height of popularity of the party he moved to Washington and there started a party paper that had more than a million circulation at one time.

Rev. McCune has the distinction of having made good in three professions. At first he was a doctor and later a preacher and then a newspaper man. He resided in Cameron for a number of years and was editor of the Cameron Herald at one time.

Belton War Veteran Shoots Self at the Grave of His Wife.

Belton, Sept. 1.—DeWitt T. Keller, popular young Belton citizen was found mortally wounded at the grave of his wife in the North Belton cemetery this morning at 7:30 o'clock. A pistol lay by his side. In a note to relatives he wrote that he wanted to go to his wife and be with her.

Mr. Keller, who was assistant superintendent of the Belton Yarn Mills had written several letters this morning, went to the room of his mother-in-law, Mrs. S. B. McElroy, told her goodbye and left. Suspecting that something was wrong, Mrs. McElroy phoned P. M. Keller, the young man's father, and he with Mr. McElroy and Ed Keller rushed to the cemetery where they found their son and brother dying with a bullet wound in his head. He was rushed to the local sanitarium where he died a few minutes later.

Since the death of Mrs. Keller on November 17, 1924, Mr. Keller had often been despondent. He visited the grave of his wife daily, sometimes going two or three times a day and had one of the most beautiful lots in the cemetery. His untiring love and devotion to his young wife was noticeable not only to the family and immediate relatives, but to his many friends as well.

The deceased was a man everybody honored and admired. He was devoted to loved ones and friends. He was a man who was a friend to all and was a valuable asset to the mill industry here. Kind and considerate, he was loved by all with whom he was associated.

DeWitt Keller was a member of the local Post, American Legion, having served in the late World War.

MONDAY SEPTEMBER 7 IS BARGAIN DAY HERE

HUNDREDS OF PEOPLE EXPECTED FOR DAY OF PLEASURE AND BARGAINS.

If plans now contemplated by the committee in charge of the trades day are realized Cameron will have one of the largest and most spectacular parades of its history.

In addition merchants in Cameron are preparing to offer the people unusual bargains for that day and to make the revival of the first Monday a real trade effort and saving to the people.

It is hoped that the plans for the parade and general entertainment can be carried out and every indication points to a consummation of the program.

The program will start with a band concert at 10 o'clock Monday morning.

A farm expert from A. & M. College has been asked to make an address here at 11 o'clock to the farmers. In the afternoon at 4 o'clock Hon. T. S. Henderson will deliver a labor day address.

While Cameron has no labor unions, so far as can be learned, a number of workmen in various industries in the city are members of their respective trade unions and they will welcome the observance of Labor Day.

President F. E. Jackson of the Commercial Club has under advisement the matching of a base ball game for that day and it is believed he will succeed.

The people of the county are invited to attend the celebration as everything possible will be arranged for their comfort and entertainment. family reunion no2

FIRST REPORT OF 1925 CROP SHOWS MILAM COUNTY HAS GINNED 635 BALES AGAINST 1253 LAST YEAR.

The first report of the cotton crop ginned for 1925 shows that the county is about fifty per cent below the figure for this date in 1924, according to Basil McGregor, special agent at Milano.

If the ratio should hold up the county would produce a half crop which would be in excess of that anticipated. However, cotton will be much short of this figure in production.

The figures and reports submitted by Mr. McGregor are as follows:

"There were 635 bales of cotton, counting round as half bales, ginned in Milam county, from the crop of 1925 prior to Aug. 16, 1925 as compared with 1,253 bales ginned to Aug. 16, 1924.

PIRATE STYLE FEATURES NEW FALL MILLINERY

FLASH OF COLOR AND JAUNTY
MODES FOR HATS THIS FALL AND WINTER

Pirate Styles feature the new fall millinery. The millinery shops here are showing the new things for fall. Miss Lalla Meyers, J. D. Dobbins, Cheeves Brothers and Louis S. Pierce are in receipt of large shipments of the new fall hats.

Hats, whether tailored or dress types, still preserve the simple silhouette. So dictates Paris, that arbiter of fashion. Fall hats are small, but shapes are more inclined to size than the small snug hat of last season. This is accomplished in many instances by a greater spread being given the small brim. There is quite a tendency for brims to flare up from the face, out and up. Styles in general are much more wearable than formerly. Many middle aged women have been sadly neglected by the milliner in the past. For instance, the little cloche hat is not so becoming to the matron, whereas the new off-the-face styles are far more suited to her.

As in other sartorial fields, color is dominant in fall millinery. The lovely brown tones that blend so well with different furs will be much used, as will also dark red tones, with high colors stressed in velvets.

Velvet is emphasized as an outstanding fabric for the early season, with felt and velours making the more tailored type of hat. French milliners are quite extensively introducing the velvet and felt combination.

Crowns are a bit larger and higher than those of last season, and are plainer in effect.

Velours are going to sell no doubt because of their soft, furry appearance, which renders them extremely becoming to most faces. Felts and velours are particularly adaptable to interesting treatments in the way of cut-outs and appliques.

Trimmings are confined largely to small pins, and chous and pleated effects in ribbon. However, the French makers are bringing out ornaments of extreme novelty; for instance, metal effects that make no pretense of imitating the precious metals, but rather incline to the wrought iron or ordinary effects. Other novelties are carved wood, and colored galalith ornaments and small feather fancies. A charming model exploiting the latter trimming is a sports shape of royal blue velour caught up at the front with a novel padded motif of kid painted in a little doll face, and topped by auburn hair of ostrich.

The Mint's Sidelines

The United States mints make other objects besides coins. All of the medals for the army and navy are turned out by the mints. Medals of all the Presidents, the Secretaries of the Treasury, the Directors of the Mints, have been designed and executed by the mints. Recently the mints inaugurated the practice of making medals of the Under Secretaries of the Treasury. Congress has authorized the mint to make up 40,000 medals to commemorate the arrival of the first shipload of Norse immigrants on board the sloop Restauration, which is to be celebrated at the Norse-American Centennial in Minnesota next summer.

At the last session of Congress there was a flood of bills seeking to have commemorative half dollars minted. The prior session authorized the minting of the Huguenot half dollars and of 5,000,000 half dollars to signalize the start of work on the Stone Mountain carving, which will serve as a monument to the valor of the soldiers of the South. On the Federal coins appear Generals Lee and Jackson, the two leaders of the Confederate forces in the Civil War.

A Flood of Coins

With the 150th anniversary of the great battles of the American revolution approaching, bills were passed last winter to issue coins commemorating the stand of the minutemen at Lexington and Concord and the battle of the Green Mountain patriots at Bennington in Vermont. Proposals were made to pay tribute in a similar way to the battle of Bunker Hill, the victory at Yorktown and other events American history, such as the 200th anniversary of the founding of Stoughton, Mass., and the 50th anniversary of the admission of California to the Union.

Fearing that the growth of this practice would open the way to counterfeiting and make the protection of the integrity of the coins more difficult, Secretary Mellon openly opposed the creation of these special coins, but was not entirely successful in his efforts. He insisted that the practice introduced confusion into our system of coinage, brought about an unnecessary expense and satisfied a very limited demand because the public generally has never shown a special liking to the commemorative coins.

However, Congress felt that these great events were worthy of commemoration and authorized the coins—all of which are to be sold at a premium so that the promoters of these events may raise funds by this extra charge to defray part of the expense attached. The records of the Treasury show that the special coins, as a general rule, are seldom absorbed in circulation. The Monroe coin issue was a dismal failure—217,000 of the 274,000 struck off were turned back to the Treasury for melting up. — Journal American Bankers Association.

His Own Death Notice

Mike was working diligently in his potato patch when he saw the postman coming up the road, bringing a black-edged envelope.

Mike became uneasy, and showed it.

"Hope it's not bad news," said the postman.

"It is that," said Mike, looking at the address. "It's upset I am entirely. My brother, Pat's dead. I can tell by his handwriting."—From Everybody's Magazine.

Gave Name to Vogue

The name "silhouette" is derived from Etienne de Silhouette, a French minister of finance, who was famous for his measures of economy in 1759. All business was stripped of unnecessary detail. Paintings were reduced to mere outlines. Whether this was in conformance with the spirit of economy or because it was coincidence that black and white outline portraits became popular at this time, the name "Silhouette" was applied to them and has clung.

Animal Highly Valued

The water buffalo is valued highly in China, especially in the fields, where it is used for the cultivation of the rice crop. It is said that they are more powerful than the ox and capable of dragging or carrying a heavier load. The female yields a much greater quantity of milk than a cow, and of excellent quality, from which the ghee or semi-fluid butter of India is made. The hide is valued for its strength and durability.

SOKOLS, BUILDER OF CHARACTER AND SOCIETY, HAVE PLAYED BIG PART IN THE CIVILIZATION OF THE WORLD.

To our American friends I wish to say a few words about the American Sokol Union, a society that insures a healthy and happy life by paying its benefits in the health and beauty of the body, in the health and happiness of the mind.

American Sokol Union is a gymnastic and educational organization which strives to educate its members to the possible physical and mental efficiency, thus enabling them to live a perfect, noble and therefore a happy life.

Last Sunday we have shown you in the Stadium of the Grant Park in Chicago our achievements in physical education. The symphony of motion, the astonishment of perfectly mastered human bodies were witnessed by some 45,000 spectators on that memorial day of June 28th.

The Sokol work, however, does not mean to obtain physical perfection only, but it means both physical and moral elevation of every man and every woman, so that when we address a Sokol a response will come from a man in the truest sense of the word—a man perfect physically and morally, a patriot is ever ready to the call of his country, ever ready to draw a sword in defense of Democracy, Liberty and Humanity.

The mental development, the mental culture is as much within the scope of Sokol education as is the physical culture. Sokol at a full development and through training of all the mental faculties, at enlightenment and ennoblement of every man and every woman.

The Sokol education is unlike a continuation school since its aim is not to cram the minds of its members with a vast supply of scientific and technical knowledge. Neither are we trying to make scientist nor philosophers out of our members. We teach them how to acquire the faculty of logical and independent thinking we show them how to develop and master all their mental faculties to their greatest advantage. We assist in acquiring a true intelligence which is the exercise of active intellect the capacity to know and to understand, the ability to exercise the higher mental functions and readiness of comprehension.

The true intelligence leads one to constant and preserving effort towards neatness, delicacy and perfection in thinking, in talking, in acting and in living. The true intelligence will enable one to participate in mental delights and pleasures, which unlike the sensual gratifications do not make the blood seethe with wild excitement, do not blunt the mental faculties, do not detract from the human dignity of man, but furnish food and drink for the soul, do not leave the weakness or exhaustion in their wake, but strengthen the soul and enable it to withstand more effectively the wounds on the battlefield of life, for a happy life and will make the soul to vibrate in harmony with heavenly bliss.

There are many ways and means by which we are striving to attain this end. I will mention shortly some of them.

Popular lectures on subjects of timely interest, often followed by general discussion, are among our educational measures. In these we advocate freedom of views, freedom of speech, without, however drifting into licentiousness.

Since we regard a good book, probably the most efficient instrument for acquiring the mental culture, we require of every unit in our organization to have a collection of good books not merely novels, but also books on popular science and popular philosophy and of general inspirational books. We select our books with great care knowing too well that in the great modern flood of literature among the many books published there are only a few that are worth reading but among these few there are many that one may read twice and benefit thereby. It is a misfortune for human civilization that this flood of books contains a great quantity of ugly mud.

The sympathetic understanding and sincere love for nature are virtues which we are trying to inculcate into the susceptible minds and hearts of our junior members.

In this, our new country, we are confronted with several problems of great importance. We are conscientiously striving at their solution with freedom of thought and with sincere love for humanity in our hearts.

Probably the most important problem for us is the problem of Americanization.

To become a true American it is not sufficient to learn the American tongue. To become a true American one must learn clearly comprehend and cheerfully adopt the true spirit of America, the spirit of sincere and ardent devotion to freedom and democracy, the spirit of universal love for the suffering humanity irrespective of creed and nationality. We believe that the American institutions are the best products of the present day civilization, that the constant evolving, steadily improving and swiftly advancing American type will be the best type of mankind. And to the crucible from which this perfect jewel of humanity is to be cast in a very near future we desire to add the precious metals of our national character, the gold of the love for truth as typified by our great martyr John Hus, the sterling silver of purity of character, of profound wisdom, of unswerving tenacity of purpose as exemplified by the great president of Czechoslovakia Thomas Garrick Masaryk.

We love our old country as every good son loves his mother. But having married America, we love our fair wife, we are very faithful to her, we want to live with her through moments of happiness, as well as through the trying times of sorrow, and, if necessary, we are ever ready to die for her.

With all the rest of mankind we are facing the ever present, the ever pressing religious problem. Its adequate solution will to a great extent determine the future of our civilization. We do not turn away from this problem, but we approach it with open mind and sincerity in our heart, believing with Abraham Lincoln that "The dogmas of the quiet past are inadequate to the stormy present. The occasion is piled high with difficulty, and we must rise with the occasion. As our case is new, so we must think anew and act anew." We aim at the progressive, liberal and modern solution of the religious problem on the basis of the latest scientific knowledge, in the light of the most progressive philosophy of our time. We believe in the constructive solution, neither loosing ourselves in vacant negation, nor allowing ourselves to be engulfed by the vast sea of crude materialism.

For a long time the absolute truth may continue to evade the firm grasp of science, our imperfect senses may long remain unable to pierce the veil hiding from our view the greatest mystery of the universe, but undaunted by the failures of the past we will persist in striving to approach the absolute truth closer and closer, for ever and ever we will try to see more clearly, and to live bigger and more beautiful life founded on better understanding and closer knowledge. Never losing the sight of the ideal we are ever treading the road to where it rules supreme, even though the voice of cynical skepticism occasionally arises out of our own heart. The ideals are the nourishing bread of the soul, in striving after the ideals is the true sense of living, in constant desire to improve is the real secret of happy life.

The most serious and steadily rising danger to the present civilization and culture offers the huge and overwhelming tide of materialism, resulting partially from the world war, partially also due to unsatisfactory and imperfect solution of the religious problem. Instead of respecting the spiritual values the mankind worships the golden calf of Mammon; people are wont to brag of their automobiles rather than to be proud of possessing good books; the modern craze for coarse luxuries and physical pleasures is quickly replacing the efforts at mental improvement and ennoblement of the soul. The position of a man in society is not gauged according to what he knows, but according to what he owns, his value is not stated in the terms of intelligence, but rather in dollars and cents.

In this nervous haste of the modern life the great army of Sokols erect the ideal of a perfect man, of a perfect woman, perfect physically, mentally and morally, believing that this ideal forms the only foundation firm enough to sustain the magnificent structure of human contentment, of human happiness.

SOCIETY

Velours are going to sell no doubt because of their soft, furry appearance, which renders them extremely becoming to most faces. Felts and velours are particularly adaptable to interesting treatments in the way of cut-outs and appliques.

Trimmings are confined largely to small pins, and chous and pleated effects in ribbon. However, the French makers are bringing out ornaments of extreme novelty; for instance, metal effects that make no pretense of imitating the precious metals, but rather incline to the wrought iron or ordinary effects. Other novelties are carved wood, and colored galalith ornaments and small feather fancies. A charming model exploiting the latter trimming is a sports shape of royal blue velour caught up at the front with a novel padded motif of kid painted in a little doll face, and topped by auburn hair of ostrich.

STRAIGHT TALKS WITH AUNT EMMY

ON HAVING MONEY ON HAND

"Aunt, why is it such a good thing to have cash in the bank?" asked Jane of Aunt Emmy. "Mr. Wilkins was talking to father yesterday and he said that every one ought to have a certain amount of cash on hand."

"He meant that if you keep some of your money in the bank where it can be had any time you might be able to use it to excellent advantage," said Aunt Emmy. "Every now and then a good opportunity presents itself to make a nice profit in some business deal if you only have the cash on hand so you can act quickly. Don't you remember about that quarrel the Brown brothers had over their inheritance and to settle it sold that house in Center Street? Old Peter Haskins bought it in for $2,000 and the next week sold it for $1,200. If he hadn't had the cash on hand he never could have made that handsome profit."

"Yes, Aunt, that's all right for Mr. Haskins, but I'm never likely to have $2,000 or $1,000 on hand."

"Well there are other little ways to make a profit," said Aunt Emmy. "For instance, you can always benefit by cash discounts. That is, if some one asks you to pay, say $100 for a thing, you can usually get it for less, sometimes ten per cent less. If you pay at once in cash. You always should have some of your money in cash so that you can take advantage of golden opportunities and cash discounts."

Had Origin in Quoits

The game of horseshoes is based on quoits, which is a pastime resembling the ancient discus-throwing of Greece. Few traces of a game resembling quoits can be found on the continent of Europe and its origin may be sought for on the borderlands of Scotland and England. There are references to it in the midlands, dating from the beginning of the Fifteenth century. Ascham, in his "Toxophilus" (1545), refers to the game as being chiefly by the working classes, who often used horseshoes for want of quoits, a custom still prevailing in country districts.

Designed for Convenience

The position of the hands of a clock is one which has been selected for the reason that it furnishes the greatest facility to meet the requirement for painting the longer name above the hands and the shorter word below. The minute hand has been varied in position from 17 to 25 minutes after 8. Sometimes the longer name requires to be written in a semi-circle above the hands. There have been stories connected with the death of Lincoln, that the position of the hands is commemorative of the hour of the death but this is not true.

TIGHT FEELING

Stomach Troubles Relieved by the Aid of Black-Draught.

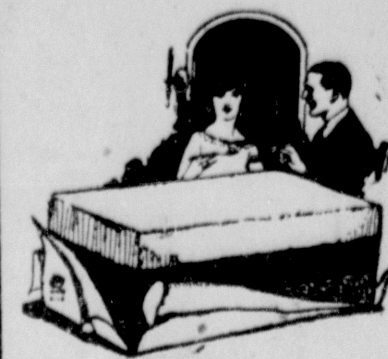

Telling how he obtained relief from very disagreeable symptoms of stomach trouble, Mr. Charles T. Wintz, of R. F. D. 4, Huntington, W. Va., made the following statement:

"I began taking Black-Draught about fifteen years ago. I would have gas on my stomach that just pressed and seemed to shorten my breath, and I would have all kinds of feeling. My head would ache and I was in a very bad fix."

"I had tried remedies that didn't seem to do me any good. I saw Black-Draught advertised and sent for it."

"After taking a few doses, I knew it was helping me. It seemed to break up the gas, and the tight, bloated feeling disappeared, and I was like a new man. I would not be without Black-Draught. I can eat anything I want to. If I get dizziness in the head, Black-Draught relieves it."

KLANSWOMAN OF DALLAS WILL BEAR FIREY CROSS IN RACE FOR GOVERNOR —ISSUES CHALLENGE "MA" AND JIM.

Fort Worth, Aug. 29.—It will be "woman vs. woman" in Texas next year.

For Governor "Ma" Ferguson in her campaign for reelection will be opposed by another woman—Mrs. Edith Wilmans of Dallas.

Women never fight harder than when fighting each other and the Texas gubernatorial campaign promises to be a unique battle from start to finish.

Both "Ma" and Mrs. Wilmans are noted throughout the state as "political amazons." Both are certain to take the stump, and the klan is likely to figure prominently in the contest.

Mrs. Wilmans has announced she will be a candidate for the democratic nomination, which, of course, is equivalent to election, and already has started to fight.

In the announcement of her candidacy she took a fling at "Ma" by saying that "Husband Jim" Ferguson is the real governor of Texas, Mrs. Ferguson only visiting the capitol occasionally to sign documents.

"No individual will dictate affairs of the state over my shoulder, if I am elected," Mrs. Wilmans says defiantly.

If I go into the governor's office I will form an advisory council, consisting of the president of the senate, speaker of the house, heads of important departments and three prominent Texas women."

"Ma" is strongly opposed to the klan and made it a leading issue in her campaign.

Mrs. Wilmans is a klanswoman.

Governor Ferguson is a quiet woman of the rugged type. She is frank and blunt in her few speeches and talks little about things strictly political.

Mrs. Wilmans is a good mixer, possibly more of a politician in the accepted sense of the word, and delights in discussing state issues. She is the only woman ever elected to the state legislature and is an attorney. Last winter she was secretary of the house appropriation committee.

She can make as good an extemporaneous political speech as any man, while "Ma" on public occasions usually reads a brief typewritten statement.

The only point of similarity in the two women seems to be that both are excellent housekeepers, for "Ma" still finds time to preserve large quantities of peaches.

Mrs. Wilmans' law practice has been concerned mainly with cases involving domestic relations, but occasionally she handles a criminal case. She has three daughters and her husband is dead.

While in the legislature she sponsored measures to compel all children up to 17 to attend school; to require good health certificates for all persons desiring to marry; to give financial aid to families when the father has been sent to an asylum; to provide more humane treatment of prisoners. Jazz music, sensational movies and extremes in women's dress grate on her nerves.

One of the first laws she hopes to have passed if elected governor will be one giving a married woman the right to sell her property without the consent of her husband. She can't do this now in Texas.

Hudson and Essex Prices Cut Lower In Big Reduction.

The fourth sweeping Hudson-Essex price reduction within a year was announced in mid-week as affecting the entire line of Hudson-Essex enclosed cars—which means more than 65 per cent of Hudson-Essex business.

This reduction, together with those formerly made, has these results:

1. The Hudson Coach is more than $300 lower than a year ago, the Essex Coach more than $200, and the Hudson Sedan $550 less.

2. Compared with war time prices, all three cars sell at less than half the top figures. Or, put another way, the total of the reductions made on Hudson and Essex cars is a greater sum than the present prices.

Largest Six Maker.
3. With this series of price changes has come a tremendous growth in Hudson-Essex business, until today this concern is indisputably the largest manufacturer of six cylinder cars in the world. Each drop in price has greatly increased the number of buyers, and each time this added volume of business has made possible greater economies in buying, manufacturing and all general expenses and overhead.

The same management which established the Hudson Motor Car company now, as for 16 years controls and directs the design of its product and policies of the company.

"The cars themselves have been continuously improved while the price reducing process has gone on," said Aug. Horstmann, agent, Hudson and Essex cars.

Constant refinements are made in the general design, so that the present Hudson and Essex cars are the sturdiest, most reliable, most comfortable and generally satisfactory cars built several years ago find this true when they buy the Hudson and Essex cars of today. Quality has gone higher while prices dropped.

"In 1925 both Hudson and Essex lines had established new records of popularity before this present price cut became effective. Now of course this rate of sales will be at even a faster pace. Hudson and Essex have been brought within the reach of thousands of additional owners.

"We look for the final months of 1925 to be the best part of the year."

Derrick of Well at Rockdale Juts Into Public Highway.

Rockdale, Aug. 28.—Milam county perhaps, enjoys the distinction of being the only county in Texas in which an oil test well is being drilled almost in a public highway, this being the Rockdale-Bryan Oil Company's No. 1, H. T. Coulter, Hewitt & Alexander, the contractors. So close is the hole to the Rockdale-Cameron highway (State) that part of the derrick projects over into the road. The well is just 100 feet from the center of the S. A. & A. P. railroad track. The hole will be sunk to what is known as the "Minerva" sand. It is situated on the northern extremity of a narrow split of land, wedge-shaped, lying between the highway and the railroad track, permit for three wells having been granted. It is about three miles north of Rockdale.

Machinery Moved In.

Having leased a parcel of ground from the railroad company, the Sour Lake Machine and Supply company has moved in several carloads of equipment and machinery, and will begin erection of a building to house a supply house and machine shop for same when the Magnolia Petroleum company drills in its No. 1 Kime wildcat, bringing in the latter being held up by certain lease details.

Two Deep Wells Contracted.

Glass Bros. operators and production owners in the old Rockdale-Minerva shallow pool, have contracted with J. P. Brunton to drill two 1,500 foot oil test wells on the J. H. Holliman and the J. H. Tyler tracts, one well each, about six miles southeast of Rockdale, where a fair showing of high grade oil has been obtained several months ago. The showings were estimated at the time to be good for 10 barrel production, 34 gravity, and a high content of lubricant, at around 638 feet.

HAVE DARK HAIR AND LOOK YOUNG

Nobody Can Tell When You
Darken Gray, Faded Hair
With Sage Tea

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and attractive with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, all ready to use, at very little cost. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

Well-known druggists say everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—it's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a comb or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and beautiful.

NEW DRESSES COLORFUL ART IN MANUFACTURE

CAMERON STORES AND SHOPS
OFFER SELECTION WITH TOUCH OF EAST.

Strolling about the stores and shops of Cameron one gets an insight into the creations assembled here for the women. The new fall dresses are works of art and in every respect a departure from the usual.

At the Specialty Shop of Mrs. Hearrel one finds a generous collection as well as at J. D. Dobbins Store. At Cheeves Bros. and at Triggs Dry Goods Company as well as Klawansky and W. B. Levy, all come in for their share of the fall exhibits. Louise S. Pierce and J. P. Werner are showing new fall things.

Full skirts for fall are introduced by pleats in tailored dresses and flares in formal gowns. High collars, cape effects and scarf arrangements are all points of interest in the new mode.

There is a general impression of elaboration in dresses, but this is more a matter of intricate styling than trimming detail, although trimmings have again come into their own. A few features that contribute to this effect are fuller skirts, long sleeves and the continued endorsement of high collars.

As to high collars, an intriguing detail is introduced by having them finish with a single scarf end. Evening gowns are sometimes accompanied by scarfs that tie in high collar fashion around the neck. Vestee treatments are much in evidence, and panels that finish in high collars that button up the front. A charming costume that one prominent French designer is responsible for is in jack rose coloring with a front panel that fashions the dress. The velvet buttons in high collar fashion.

Cape effects, both in street and formal types, are frequently seen, with the onesided cape a unique feature.

In spite of the prominence of the flare, the straightline silhouette has emphatically not been neglected, and will continue to have its staunch adherents. In this category, are costume types developed in navy twill or black satin with pastel colored slips; tubular models, always associated with beaded effects; and coat dresses in masculine versions of the tailored mode, developed in covert cloth or twill.

An interesting frock of the straight-line type is worn in one of New York's latest stage hits, "All Wet." It is a dress of pheasant velvet, striped horizontally in black, with a long graceful scarf falling at one side.

The jumper effect is another type that is going exceedingly well with the smart debutante. At advanced fashion shows, it has been presented in richly embroidered treatments, and in fabrics ranging from jersey to cheville velvet. One model is bottle green velvet is embroidered in gold, giving it a semi-formal quality.

A turreur frock retaining the straight line silhouette, introduces a new fabric called Louison, a combination of silk and wool, in which the silk threads are used to trace a fine pattern.

Many formal costumes endorse straight lines. A smart Fifth Shop displays a gray chiffon evening gown intubular fashion, with a border of black velvet. Crystal and jet beads in degradable arrangements blend the two colors, and a huge geranium bow provides a striking contrast.

Elaborate fabrics, such as gold and silver cloth and brocades, are developed in straight line gowns. A charming silver cloth model effects a generous bow at one side, giving a suggestion of the flare. Crystal beading and rose embroidery form a colorful border on the skirt.

Vionnet is responsible for the "molded" type of gown. The fitted effect is usually achieved in bias cuts of the material. This style is brought out in princess evening models of lace or metal cloth; in velvets and chiffons, with the molded bodice in contrast to a full skirt—this latter type for the youthful figure.

An interesting example of the barrel or bolero effect is a Philippe et Gaston ensemble, with the coat of navy rep with blue cire braid inserted to give the bolero effect. The dress is developed in silk with similar ornamentation.

There are any number of different versions of the flare. The back flare has come into prominence, either so subtly suggested as to be hardly noticeable, or used as a distinct feature.

In fact, in most of the new fall types, elaborate skirts are emphasized—flares, pleats, flounces and panels all come in for a generous share of attention.

Sleeves are long and generally tight fitting, although the pheasant type is much used.

High colors are exploited in all types of gowns. Red is represented in an amazing assortment of shades, and green is certainly given a place in the sun. Gay and colorful embroideries, often showing an ultra-modern or futuristic trend, are extensively used both on tailored frocks and more formal interpretations.

MAKE YOUR EDUCATION YIELD YOU A BIGGER FUTURE

A MESSAGE TO AMBITIOUS HIGH SCHOOL GRADUATES.

Have you made Commerement the beginning or the ending of your career? Your whole future is wrapped up in the way you answer this question.

This is the answer to the question: Last spring, and each preceding spring, the public schools of the United States, high schools especially, sent forth many thousands of happy and expectant young men and young women. The diplomas they so proudly carried bore the promise of a wonderful future. And we cannot condemn the schools issuing these diplomas for the resulting sorry fact that only a very small percentage of these young people have risen above the common level.

The schools were all right. They did the things they set out to do. They gave these young people the broad educational foundation so necessary to success in any line. One thing, however, in most cases, they failed to do and that was to point out to every graduate that he could not succeed without something further—without specializing along some clearly-defined line.

By far, the greater percentage of these graduates were looking forward to success in some of the thousands of lines of BUSINESS. They expected to step directly from school into positions in business. Yet they were no more fitted by their public schooling to enter the business world than they were to enter the professions of law, medicine, engineering or teaching. For business, being the profession bigger and more complex than medicine, law, or any other profession, requires that its workers be especially trained just as the other professions require it.

Thus, when those hopeful young men and women attempted to enter what, to many of them, was their chosen field—business—they found there were no places for them. They were not fitted by their training to take up even the smallest places in business. If, by rare good—or ill—fortune they did get positions in business, these positions were at poor pay, offering little or no opportunity for advancement. And, month by month, they were forced to "stand by" and see young people, with no better public schooling than they had, pass them on the way to success, because these young people had the foresight to get the training business demanded them to have before they attempted to enter the field.

Have you made commencement the beginning or the ending of your career? Specialize your training in the largest field of endeavor and let the largest commercial school in the United States, the Tyler Commercial College, give you that necessary training. Mail the coupon printed below for the large, free book, "Achieving Success in Business," which will answer your question and show you the way to success.

SAGE TEA DANDY TO DARKEN HAIR

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Bring Back Color and Lustre to Hair

You can turn gray, faded hair beautifully dark and lustrous almost overnight if you'll get a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" at any drug store. Millions of bottles of this old famous Sage Tea Recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, are sold annually, say well-known druggists here, because it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that no one can tell it has been applied.

Those whose hair is turning gray or becoming faded have a surprise awaiting them, because after one or two applications the gray hair vanishes and your locks become luxuriantly dark and beautiful.

This is the age of youth. Gray-haired, unattractive folks aren't wanted around, so get busy with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound to-night and you'll be delighted with your dark, handsome hair and your youthful appearance within a few days.

THE PENCIL MAKES A FARM PAY BETTER

Farm Accounting Reveals Losing
Methods and Points Way to Bigger Profits.

(From Banker-Farmer)

A farm cannot properly be called successful unless it pays a fair rate of interest on the investment and returns fair wages for the farmer's labor. Agriculture is considered by all odds the most important industry in the world, and yet in no other industry is the business end so neglected.

It is common to find a farmer with an investment of fifteen to twenty thousand dollars, yet does he keep books? Perhaps he may jot down a note now and then of an important deal, but this is of no value in an analysis of his business as a whole. No other industry, however small, is carried on without books of some sort.

Farming is a business and to be successful must be conducted in a businesslike way. The business man's mind should have indelibly printed upon it two questions: What profit is my business making? How can that profit be increased? To know the latter, one must find out the former; and to find out about profits requires the keeping of books.

It is not necessary for a farmer to have a course in bookkeeping. Almost every agricultural college in the country has issued a simplified farm accounting book which it sells at cost, and only a few minutes are required each day to jot down the day's happenings.

Accounts Increase Profits

Instances number a thousandfold where farmers have profited by knowing their business. Accounts kept by nineteen farmers in Illinois led them to improve the organization and operation of their farms in ways that added approximately $650 to their average net income in 1922, the seventh year they had kept accounts.

An Iowa farmer found at the end of the first year he kept books that crops fed to livestock brought more money than when sold outright. His figures showed that his cows were poor; compared with other farms in the state, he found the number of acres cultivated per man of his farm, as well as the number of acres per horse, were below average. He rented more land and replanned his fields, so that the crop areas per man and horse were increased. He sold some of his scrubs and bought good cows. The second year his income from the farm, after paying all expenses and interest on the money invested, had been increased over $350.

Costs Can Be Regulated

"I have discovered," says one farm bookkeeper, "that the kind of man you have on a job, as well as the particular team, often makes quite a variation in the cost of performing certain tasks. I have learned from the pages of my book that if I could have increased the yield of my wheat field by two bushels and my corn by five bushels I would have realized a substantial profit from them."

While the farmers may not be able to fix prices on their products, they do have a voice in determining the costs of production. To reduce this cost they must first know what the costs are.

The number of farmers who are keeping books on their business has increased remarkably in recent years, but the number of businesslike farmers is woefully small when listed alongside the sum total of the farmers in the country.

Inventory Is Indispensable

The basis of any system of farm accounting is the annual property list or inventory. It is the starting point of the farm records. One must take into consideration decreases or increases in the value of all property owned to gauge the progress of the business. Lacking facts as to the value of his property, no business man can form an accurate estimate of how he stands financially. Increased cash may be due to property which was sold, or increased debts may be due to improvements made. If a farmer is falling behind, the inventory will emphasize this fact. Often when a man is discouraged and thinks he is making no progress, his inventories will tell him that he is better off than he thought.

At the end of each year a financial statement is drawn off. This is the farmer's rating and no farmer with a good financial statement need fear walking into a bank and asking for a loan.

BANKERS HELP

A bank in Monrovia, Ind., tests seed corn for farmers. A basement room was fitted out last season for the purpose and 25,000 ears were tested for fifty-six farmers. One-fourth of the seed tested last year was unfit for seed. This year the percentage will run even higher. The work is done under the supervision of the high school agricultural teacher. He reports that the community will have a surplus of seed corn this year.

The banks of Conway, Ark., have offered prizes for the most marketable sweet potatoes produced on one acre of land. A first prize of $150 is offered, along with three district prizes of $50 each. The county agent and the banks are working out the details. The County Bankers Association will help to employ a full time county leader this year for boys' and girls' club work in Calhoun, Cherokee and Buena Vista counties, Iowa.

INDEPENDENCE OF THE FINANCIAL KIND

By WILLIAM E. KNOX
President, American Bankers Association.

The principle upon which America was founded was independence. The primary duty of the pioneers of this country was to interpret independence in its political sense, but independence today has another special significance in its financial sense. The ability to apply the primary principles of personal economics, to use intelligently that common thing we call "a pay check," has as much to do with individual independence as any other force in life.

The greatest problem of independence of the average man or woman is how to get out of what they earn a good living and a reasonable degree of financial comforts in old age. We cannot maintain a high standard of national life without an intelligent management of the financial matters that constantly confront the average individual and family. In the accumulation of capital in the hands of the masses lies the hope of the true independence of a nation's people. The chief concern of wage earners is to get a reasonable degree of financial independence out of what they actually earn.

This question of how to attain personal financial independence has not been worked out on the principle of individual responsibility. The most important social needs today are a course of instruction in public education to give young people a practical notion of how to start life on a sound economic basis; and, secondly, a broad co-operative plan in American industry whereby men and women shall be helped to work out a personal financial program that will guide them toward a definite goal of financial independence. There ought to be a way for a man, for every dollar put aside each week now, to get back four or five dollars a week forty or fifty years later, regardless of where he works.

The present policy in American industry of helping employees is based on the assumption that they will ultimately become dependent. Old age pensions and other forms of charitable compensation are to be commended in lieu of a practical alternative, but in principle they are wrong and contrary to the purposes of democracy. What we want is an organized plan that will direct working people toward independence. No system can claim complete success that does not contemplate the financial independence of every employee, according to his ability to earn. It can be shown that American employees, with reasonable prudence on their own part, can reach a fair degree of independence while they are still working.

There must be injected into our industrial policy an additional economic element of mutual benefit and permanent value to both labor and capital, concerned not alone with the amount of wages and profits that are earned but with how these earnings shall be used. I am arguing for an industrial savings policy based upon the principle of independence.

ple of independence. I am arguing for a new basis of co-operation in industry, for the elimination of poverty, and for a practical demonstration of economic democracy.

When public education teaches school students how to manage their personal affairs intelligently, and when the heads of firms make it a requirement that every young man and young woman who accepts a position shall be working toward a definite goal in saving money, then we will attack economic illiteracy at the source and begin to save men from the tragedy of financial dependency.

WHERE MONEY IS A NUISANCE

Americans have reason to be thankful for their simple and reliable money. The complications of the Chinese currency are endless. China possesses 72 different money values. As to the money of account, the Kaikuan Tael, familiar in connection with the customs, the Hankow, Kuantung, Esaoing, Tookwai and others, each differ by varying percentages of weight from the "liang," or Chinese ounce of silver. If a traveler from Shanghai were to make an extended tour into the interior, passing through the districts where a manifold variety of coins circulate, the constant exchange from one weight or coin to another would dissipate a very large part of his capital.

An experienced traveler has been known to take scales with him, and still his weights and the purity of his silver were subjected to dispute in different provinces. At coast ports, Mexican, Yuan, Dragon, Hong-Kong and Hankow dollars are all current, each having its own defined exchange value in the native market, while in the interior the added intricacies of dealing with cents and copper cash are so great that it is astonishing how business can be carried on without endless disputes and a considerable handicap to trade.

Clean Kidneys By Drinking Lots of Water

Take Salts to Flush Kidneys if Bladder Bothers or Back Hurts

Eating too much rich food may produce kidney trouble in some form, says a well-known authority, because the acids created excite the kidneys. Then they become overworked, get sluggish, clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region, rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, begin drinking lots of good water and also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity; also to neutralize the acids in the system so that they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder disorders.

Jad Salts can not injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to help keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus often avoiding serious kidney disorders. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.

CHANGE OF LIFE

Virginia Lady Improved After She Took Cardui.

"I had been going through the change of life and it seemed to me that everything got wrong," says Mrs. Deala Hawks, of Bristol, Va. "I suffered from shortness of breath and I could not go up the steps without stopping to rest several times."

"When I would try to hoe in my garden I would soon give out. I could scarcely hoe two rows before my breath was coming in gasps."

"My sister-in-law had taken Cardui and she thought it might do me good, so she told me to try it. I got a bottle (of Cardui) and began to take it by the directions and I began to improve after a few doses. My general condition was so much better after the first bottle that I got another, and another, until I had taken six. Now I am a well woman."

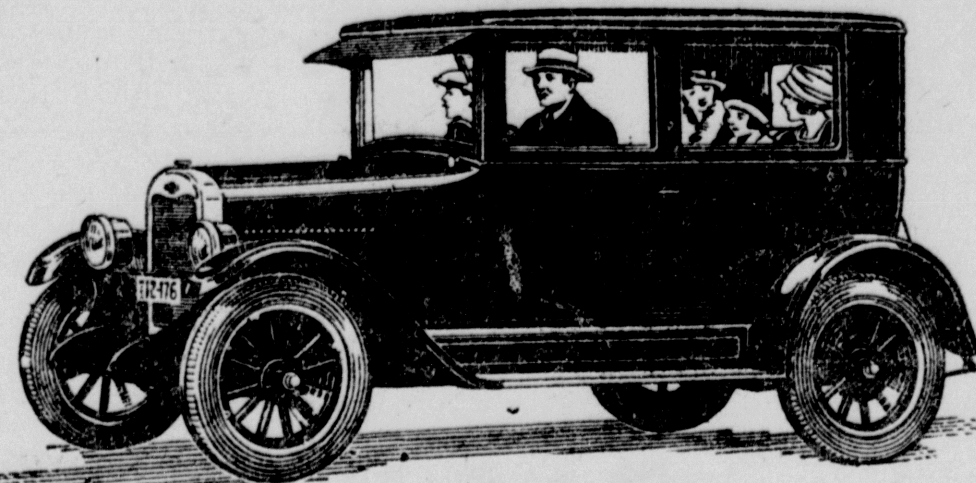

"Cardui is a great medicine. Since I took it I feel like a new woman. I had had female trouble for years. I am glad to recommend to other women a medicine which has helped me."

Politics Is Blamed For Road Fight

James E. Ferguson, former governor, who was in Houston Wednesday, had his fighting togs on.

He declares the wordy battle over highway matters hadn't brought him here, but he added he didn't mind saying what he thought about it.

"The whole thing started with a bunch of Ku Kluxers and a few sore-head contractors who have been kicked away from the pie counter," he said. "Let me show you one of their contemptible Ku Klux tricks right here in Harris County. My wife's administration didn't take charge of highway maintenance work until March 1. A month or two later these Ku Kluxers were howling that we had allowed the roads to go to ruin, that we weren't maintaining them.

"Now remember, they had had charge of these roads for six or eight years; they had praised their maintenance just a short time before in a resolution adopted by your county commissioners, but after my wife's administration had charge a month or so they said the road had gone to the bow-wows. If the roads they had had charge of for all those years, the roads they had built themselves went to pieces in one or two or even six months, I want to leave it up to the people of Harris County to answer themselves as to what kind of roads these Ku Kluxers had built.

Of course I'll admit they turned over to us some of the rottenest roads we found in the State of Texas. I'll admit that for the amount of money spent we couldn't have found a more dilapidated system of roads for a big, popular county. But remember, up to March 1 these Kluxers had sole charge of the construction and maintenance of roads in this county. Every citizen of this county knows what condition the roads were in then.

"We haven't had time to put them in first class condition yet, but I will say the state highway commission in a few months has done more than was done by this outfit of kickers in six years they had charge.

"Another thing I can promise the people is this—that in the next few months the state highway department will do more than it has done in the past.

To Surface State Roads.

"That means that we are going right ahead with the surfacing of 47 miles of highways in this county. As rapidly as possible we are going to surface the entire 168 miles of state maintained highway in the county and after we surface it we are going to maintain it.

"Yes, Sherman & Youmans have been authorized by the state highway commission to go ahead with this work."

The former governor was asked about the contract the highway commission has with Sherman & Youmans.

"Yes, a lot of Kluxers and disappointed contractors have been howling about that, and not one in a hundred of them have read the contract. If they did read it they couldn't understand it. In the first place the contract was let on competitive bids. They got $60,000 a year for the actual maintenance work and we can cancel that contract on a minute's notice. Roads are under constant supervision of state engineers and I regard them as competent and honest. What better contract could the state make than to accept the lowest bid and then reserve the authority to cancel the contract on a minute's notice and to keep close supervision over the work.

"And in this connection I want to tell you something," added the former governor. "One of the biggest kickers down here is a rival contracting firm and it wanted more than double to do the same work."

Here the former governor told of attempts to secure fat road contracts through political pull.

"But they don't succeed," he added. "I have had to break with some mighty good friends on account of their efforts to influence the letting of road work. I consider the construction of good roads one of the very biggest problems before Texas now and it must be conducted on a high plane, by honest and efficient men. I am working hard to help instill efficiency in the road construction activities of the state, and a lot of chronic kickers. Butte republicans and yellow Kluxers are howling their heads off."

Ferguson was asked about the telegram sent by Acting Judge R. H. Spencer to the highway commission last Saturday, which was never answered. He laughed.

"That's another one of their simple, fool tricks," he explained. "You see they addressed that telegram to some person with a strange name like 'Knap' whoever he is. It finally

Monday found itself in the hands of the highway commission. Of course, the commission didn't answer, for it was addressed to no member of the commission. Then they sent a newspaper man up to Austin to see if the telegram had got there. They could have telephoned the Western Union here and found out in five minutes.

Seeking Sympathy.

"He wired back they had the telegram to 'Knap,' but weren't going to answer, but intended to insult the county court here. See their trick. They are trying to arouse a little sympathy for themselves. They are complaining because the state highway department hasn't consulted them about topping 47 miles of Harris County roads. Why, blast their foolish old hides, the highway department doesn't have to consult them about improving state-maintained highways. If it had to consult them about taking care of its own roads, why ever take over the care of roads? Just as well leave the roads in their hands to improve, and everybody knows what a mess they made of it.

"I also want to call their attention to this fact: 'That when the present highway law was passed I opposed it on the ground it placed too much authority in the state highway department. But the law was passed, the state highway department charged with its duties, and, if I have anything to do with it, the state highway department is going to discharge its duties, despite the howling of all the jackals in Texas.'

The former governor referred to statements given out in regard to the Crosby road as samples of inaccuracies given the public by those opposing his wife's administration.

"You remember Judge Bryan let out a wall about the deplorable condition of that road," he said. "I happened to be familiar with it for two or three years ago I used to travel it to get to some oil properties I owned. It was in a fearful condition under county control. Now it is under the state highway department and I want to ask the people to go look at that road now. It is as smooth as a paved street.

"I regard this whole business as a political attack on my wife's administration, inspired by Ku Kluxers and Butte-for-Governor persons. It amounts to nothing. It will fail as other such attacks have failed, when the people see results of our road work.

"Look at their absurd howls about the use by Sherman & Youmans of state highway equipment on private contract work of their own. That equipment was, in fact, leased to Sherman & Youmans, for which the state got a lower bid on its road work. When you lease a man machinery does it matter to you whether he uses it on one road or another road?"

But the former governor said the use of state highway trucks by Haden & Austin was an entirely different matter.

To Take Back Trucks.

"I just learned about that the other day and you can rest assured they won't have those state trucks long," he said. You see they got those trucks from the county, from the same crowd that is howling now because state contractors are using state highway equipment. The county had gotten the trucks from the state, and the state still owns them. They got the trucks three or four years ago. The county practically made this contracting firm a present of those expensive trucks, but we are going to take the present away from Haden & Austin."

The Drouth Situation.

The governor spoke of the drouth situation, which he said was just now very acute in 62 counties of the state. He thought no special session of the legislature would be called, as he doubted whether it could be of any aid. He said the constitutional limit on relief appropriations has already been reached and no further relief appropriations can be made. He doesn't favor remissions of taxes.

"Why, what good would that do to the tenant farmers, the ones who are suffering?" he asked. "It wouldn't feed or clothe a child. It might put a few dollars into the pockets of the land owners and bankers, who need no success."

Lightening Breaks Window and Ignites Home in Thorndale.

During the electrical storm accompanying the rain of last Saturday afternoon lightning struck the home of Mr. Richard Heintze, about one and one half miles north of town on the San Gabriel road, and set fire to the window curtain and the bed spreads on a bed sitting near the window. Mr. Heintze and his family were seated on the porch of the home and heard the keen clap of thunder and felt the shock. He immediately walked around the house to investigate the matter and found the window pane broken, the window curtain and the bed on fire. The fire was easily put out and no material damage was done to the building. The bolt of lightning first hit the hinge of the screen at the top of the window, from there to the eye screw and latch of the screen and melted the latch, went through the window and set fire to the curtain and the bed and seems to have made its exit through the cement foundation of the building, the cement being broken and the pieces thrown outside and not under the residence.

The big bay window at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Maddox here in town was broken and pieces of the glass scattered over the floor of the room by a heavy blow of wind on the same night, but Mr. Maddox says no lightning visited his home.

Fritz Sohn, near town reports lightning visiting his home last week during the little shower which visited this section and a mesquite tree in his horse lot was completely demolished, pieces of the branches being thrown more than seventy five yards from the tree. The farm stock in the lot were not even shocked as far as he could ascertain.—Thorndale Champion.

PAUL W. PEEBLES DEAD; BURIED IN THORNDALE

SON OF GEO. W. PEEBLES DIES
FOLLOWING PERIOD OF DE-CLINING HEALTH.

(Thorndale Champion.)

The heart strings of the people of Thorndale and this community were drawn to high tension about five o'clock last Saturday afternoon by the announcement that Paul W. Peebles, who had been a patient sufferer for many weeks, had departed this life just as the western sun was speeding to its final bow for the day and night was soon to usher in. The pall of gloom which seemed to hover very heavily over the community added blackness to the darkening clouds which were at the time gathering preparatory for the rain following an hour later. The heavens seemed to weep with the relatives and personal friends of this young man, who felt a personal loss in his untimely death.

The deceased had not enjoyed good health for several years past and at times thought himself a victim of appendicitis but was not willing for an operation. His condition grew worse with the passing of time and on June 1 of this year submitted to an operation at the Flockinger Sanitarium in Taylor, Dr. McClevey of Temple performing the operation. After making the incision the doctors in charge decided that no relief could be secured by further use of the surgeon's knife and the wound was closed and medical treatment was resorted to for possible relief. He remained at the hospital until able to make the trip home where he has been confined to his bed most of the time since until his death on Saturday afternoon. Paul realized the seriousness of his condition and was a very patient sufferer. Being afflicted with stomach trouble of a malignant type, he was unable to take nourishment only in liquid form, and even this was too nauseating at times.

Funeral services were held at the First Christian Church in Thorndale Sunday afternoon at 3:30, Rev. R. E. Roberts, pastor of the church, conducting the service. The scriptural lesson abounded with consolation and hope of new life where there is no sorrow and pain. The promise is sure: "They that wait upon the Lord shall mount up with wings as eagles." The sorrowing friends from this and adjoining counties gathered, and it was the largest concourse of friends, with possibly very few exceptions, ever witnessed at a funeral in Thorndale. The floral offerings were beautiful and expressive of the high regard and great esteem in which the deceased was held by friends here and over the state. Many wreaths from individuals and a blanket bouquet of rare beauty and elaborate design represented the undying love and esteem of the young men of Thorndale. The tribute of the Sunday School and congregation of the Christian Church, of which he was a member, was also noticeable for its beauty and expressiveness. A special choir of young men and young women, led by Miss Helen Newton with Miss Inez Goff at the piano furnished the music which was altogether appropriate, touching and excellently rendered. Following the service interment was made in the City Cemetery near town. The active pall bearers were: Smith Summerlin, Maurice Reaves, Walter Scales, Adolph Taegle, Marmon Ponton, and Forest Culver, with the following honorary pall bearers: L. G. Butts, J. J. Elliott, W. B. Elliott, A. R. Ramseur, Sam Clement, L. D. Barnes, D. W. Cowen and H. M. Camp.

The deceased leaves besides the heart broken father and mother, two sisters, Mrs. George Wolle, of Robstown, and Nina Peebles of Thorndale and a brother, Lee Peebles also at home here, many relatives and friends here and over the state.

Paul Wilson Peebles was born Dec. 31, 1901, in the Watson Branch community and moving to Thorndale with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Peebles, attended the Thorndale Public school, graduating with the 1920 class. He attended the then Southwest Texas State Normal, (now Texas State Teachers College) at San Marcos the summer of the same year. Entering the Austin High School with the 1920-21 term, graduated at the expiration of that term and won a scholarship in the University of Texas in Dramatics. He taught school in Williamson and Milam counties a few years, namely Hare, Hamilton Chapel, etc., and continued his studies in the summer of 1922. In 1923 he taught the Salty school and had contracted to teach the same school the coming fall and winter term. He was very much interested in school work and his chief aim in life seemed to be to help all young people to obtain an education.

personal savior and united with the Christian Church in Thorndale under the preaching of Rev. P. F. Herndon of Taylor in 1918. He was a strong believer in science, and saw no conflict between science and religion. He believed in the law of compensation, that for every loss there is a gain, and his only regret at his death was having to leave his friends, but he was certain that he would live again in a more peaceful world.

None but those who have set in the shadow of a great bereavement can justly weigh such a sorrow as death brings. Those who have gone down in the valley of suffering and stood for weeks by the side of a loved one, as hope after hope dropped away like the petals fall from a fading flower known that such anguish cannot find solace in the tenderest words. Poet nor artist have never been able to portray the grave in colors of brightness and beauty, and while the silence of death chills us at this moment, memories, sweet and precious, come crowding in. Death is a hard master. It would take from us our brightest and best, but it cannot mar living memory which serves as a balm to our wounded hearts. Forget? Never! The Champion joins the many friends in sympathy to the bereaved family and relatives.

5000 See Klu Klux Ceremonial Friday Night at Midway.

Temple, August 29.—Crowds estimated at over 5000 jammed Midway park four miles west of Temple last night to witness a public ceremonial staged by the Ku Klux Klan of Temple assisted by members from Belton, Killeen and other Bell county towns.

More than 1000 automobiles were parked on the grounds, a wooded spot formerly used for fair ground purposes. Within the past year it has been purchased by the klan as headquarters. An initiation service said to be the same used at regular meetings was conducted in the center of the race track, sufficiently far to prevent spectators from identifying the participants but near enough so that all could hear distinctly.

What was said to be the official klan oath was repeated to a class of 35 initiates. White robed and masked klansmen inside the grounds preserved order and directed the handling of the crowd. Flaming crosses were much in evidence.

No masks were worn outside the private property of the klan. Rev. Lloyd P. Bloodworth of Fort Worth said to be a Methodist minister and advertised as the grand kludd delivered an address on the order, its purposes and aims. It was after midnight before the ceremonies were concluded.

Klan Konklave To Be Witnessed by 100,000 Kluxers.

Dallas, Texas, Aug. 29.—What will undoubtedly be the largest picnic ever held in Texas is scheduled to take place at Arlington, between Fort Worth and Dallas, on Sept. 11 and 12, when the Ku Klux Klan will celebrate and entertain for two days with free barbecue, ball games and divers amusements.

The State Klorery is to be held in Fort Worth at the same time, and the picnic is planned in connection with the convention. Fifty thousand reservations have already been made, according to the committee chairman, and fully 100,000 are expected.

Special trains from all over Texas and southwestern states, and from northern and mid-western states, as far north is Ohio, will be operated to Fort Worth and Dallas to bring visitors for the event.

The size of the affair is indicated by the order for eatable. One hundred and twenty five baby beeves will be barbecued. Two barrels of pickles will be on the ground. The onions and sauce for the barbecue $300. There will be 10,000 loaves of bread, and 400 cords of wood have been delivered for fuel. It will take 50 men two days to dig the trench for the barbecuing operation.

A mammoth initiation of candidates on horseback will be one of the spectacular features of the program.

Young Vandals Are Arrested at Rockdale

Rockdale, Texas, August 29.—Vandalism and destruction of property by boys under 16 years of age, manifested by breaking into the store house of the Rockdale Gun club and rifling it of its contents, as well as prying off the locks and taking them away, and not only this, but damage to the new high school building and other forms of malicious mischief, resulted in three boys, aged 11, 12 and 16, being taken before Judge Gunn one day this week and questioned.

The youths admitted the charge and a part of the missing property was recovered. The boys climbed to the top of the building by the fire escape ladder, scooped the gravel from the roof and pored it into the vent pipes of the sewerage system, with the result that workmen have had to tear out the walls of two rooms as well as the floor of the basement in order to get to the obstruction, costing the school trustees several hundred dollars.

Not only Rockdale, but Cameron and Rosebud, have suffered similar depredations from gangs of malicious youngsters, and the Rockdale board of trustees have announced that further acts of vandalism will be prosecuted vigorously.
